

UNDER THE HOOD

From engine block reboring to repairing and rebuilding engines. Dan Daly Engines offer a large array of mechanical services and the quality of its service allied to its competitive pricing makes it a popular option among Irish taxi drivers.

In business for over 30 years, Dan Daly Engines, are specialists in engine repairs and engine reconditioning. Dan Daly started the family owned business which is located on the Dublin/Meath border, in response to a lack of businesses offering a complete in-house engine repair service.

“We work on the cars from start to finish,” says manager Mark Daly. “This means that after we diagnose the problem, we can then do all repairs and replacements in our workshop with our extensive range of machining equipment and engine parts. This not only ensures a higher quality of work as the job can be overseen from start to finish but also cuts down the expense as there is no middle man to pay.”

There are over 14,000 full-time taxi drivers in the I.T.D.F who are fully reliant of their vehicles for their livelihoods. When a drivers' car gives trouble, excellent work and a fast turn-around speed is required so that the drivers can have their cars fixed and ready to get back on the road. Therefore, by offering a complete package of engine diagnosis, replacement or repair on premises, work can be completed to an excellent standard in a timely manner. “At Dan Daly Engines we are very popular with taxi drivers as not only do we work efficiently, we also guarantee engine work for 12 months in relation to recreational usage and for 6 months for commercial use (taxi or van) so drivers can rely on us” says Daly. Dan Daly Engines deal directly with the public nation-wide and can offer a car collection service where required. They also frequently carry out work for garages throughout Ireland. The company can replace blown head gaskets, rebore blocks, fit liners, regrind crankshafts and resurface, pressure test and fully recondition cylinder heads. In addition to this, the business is a well established part supplier and also stock many common second hand parts, so all types of vehicles and repairs are carried out. “We can work on a fleet of vehicles or do a one-off repair. We have a large, dynamic team of mechanics here, with an array of experience, so no job is too big or too small,” says Mark.
